UNDERGRADUATE SOFTWARE TECHNOLOGY

ABOUT ME

I am a software engineering undergraduate at Uva Wellassa University, focusing on frontend development and UI/UX design. I also write blogs, sharing insights on technology and design. I enjoy building user-friendly, visually appealing interfaces and am eager to apply my skills in a dynamic, real-world setting.

PROJECTS

Restaurant Reservation System (Group Project)

Second Year Project

Built a web-based application to manage restaurant reservations using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, PHP, and MySQL. The system provides real-time booking updates, improving efficiency and customer satisfaction.

Doc Finder (Group Project)

Second Year Project

Created a platform to help users find hospitals and doctors by specialization and availability, with real-time updates on doctor hours. Utilized HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and Google Maps API.

Learnables – Study Material Marketplace (Group Project)

Third Year Project

Developed a web and mobile platform using React.js, Node.js, and MongoDB for students to buy, sell, and rent study materials. It includes secure payments, user authentication, and in-app messaging.

Woodies – Wood Shelf Marketplace (Group Project)

Third Year Project

Created an online marketplace for eco-friendly wood shelves, connecting artisans with buyers. The platform features responsive design and streamlined purchasing, using React.js for frontend, JSP for backend, and MySQL for database management.

CampKit – Camping Equipment Rental App (Group Project)

Third Year Project

Developed a mobile app using Flutter to facilitate the rental of camping equipment. The app allows users to browse, rent, and manage bookings for various camping gear, providing a smooth and user-friendly experience for outdoor enthusiasts.
